Terms of use for replay processing

English Version

By uploading your replay (.osr) to osu!replayViewer and agree to the processing, you acknowledge and agree to the following paragraphs:

Storage of the replay file.osr :

Before being processed, your file is stored in a waiting list. Some of the data is temporarily stored in the database, find the list of these data below:
- beatmapID and beatmapSetID
- Raw file name
- md5 of the file
- upload date
- Replay time (in seconds)
- Game mode (osu!, osu!Mania, Taiko, CTB)
- Mods used (DT, HD, FL,...)
- osu! player ID

This data allows the integrity of the file to be verified and the processing to proceed smoothly.

When processing is completed, your replay is moved to the list of completed replays. The.osr file will be stored in a folder with :
- the source video file (in .mp4)

Rules about the content of a replay:

Each replay uploaded to osu!replayViewer must respect the following points:
- The replay should not be longer than 10min (including breaks)
- It must not contain explicit content (NSFW, ...)

If a replay does not comply with at least one of these points, it will be deleted from the site.

Request to delete a replay:

Automatic method: To delete a replay saved under your osu!ID
1. Create an account with your osu!ID (if not already done).
2. Log in.
3. Go to the page of the replay you want to delete.
4. Click on the "Delete" icon.
5. Accept the deletion message.

Manual method: Make a claim
There are various reasons for this solution:
-   You have found a replay that does not respect the rules of the site
-   …

Send a request to the following e-mail: contact@osureplayviewer.xyz.
We will try to answer you as soon as possible.

Last editing date : October 2, 2018